Over 200 Moonshine Stills Said To Be Working In Madison

Southeastern Part of County Said To Be Thick With 'Em and Some Have Solicitors Working at the Crossroads

That there are over 200 stills in Madison county in which moonshine whisky is made was the assertion made here the other day after a trial in police court, by a man who seemed to know whereof he spoke.

Another remarked that it has become practically impossible to hunt birds in the southeastern section of the county. He said a hunter will be stopped by most anyone with a hand up and "keep off" admonition.

A third man who made a trip down that way in an automobile to look after some hoghead staves, says that on almost every road, if they would stop, they would be asked if they were "looking for anything." Several youths and men said, "Mister, if you're looking for anything I think I can get it for you at a reasonable price."

That the moonshiners and bootleggers are "on to their job" is attested by one lawyer who had to meet a client down that way. The client asked him if he wanted some 'shine. He asked when he should go after it.

"Oh just come anytime, and a man will meet you on the road." Investigation elicited the fact that a lookout is kept on a hill with a strong pair of field glasses. A car bringing a customer—or perhaps an officer—is spotted a mile or so up the road, and by the time it reaches a place previously agreed upon, a man is there with the "goods."

The statement was made in Richmond Wednesday that fully 200 gallons of moonshine whisky is carried out of lower Madison into Clark and Fayette counties every week.

Some say the officers ought to catch them. But how are they going to do it? They have no authority to search every car that passes through Richmond. It is a hard job, any way you look at it, and the officers deserve great credit for what they do catch.

Judge W. R. Shackelford made one of his famous anti-moonshine charges to the grand jury at Winchester when he opened court there the other day, and he said some things in his characteristic fashion that everyone around these parts knows are true. The Winchester Sun quoted him on his subject as follows:

Judge Shackelford stated that while Clark county probably was not as badly afflicted with moonshine stills as some other counties in his circuit—where he alleged the operators of home-grown outfits for the manufacture of illicit liquor were producing a grade of manufactured article of such quality that they should be indicted for "stilling not whisky, but poison"—he felt that some of contraband hooch was finding its way into this section.

The principal port of entry was, he said he understood, in Madison county in the Big Hill section where he had been informed on some occasions as many as 100 motor cars gathered to carry away cargoes of the "mountain dew" to points thru out Kentucky and even in some instances to points across the Ohio river.

Stating that in the majority of instances moonshine and concealed weapons go hand in hand,

Judge Shackelford charged new grand jury to investigate pistol toting.

In commenting on the change of public opinion with regard to the law and certain violations thereof, Judge Shackelford cited the instance of the cost of plain drunks. Formerly the charge for a plain drunk, without "trimmings," was one dollar. Now a common or garden variety of drunk carries with it a tax of $1 to $100 and a jail sentence of 5 to 30 days.

K. M. I. IS ALMOST DESTROYED BY FIRE

Lyndon, Ky., Dec. 14—Fire destroyed four of the five main buildings of the Kentucky Military Institute here today. The blaze originated on the roof of the barracks building and spread to the other two and to Ormsby Hall, all of which burned. The students, all of whom were in the chapel, were able to save their effects. The loss is estimated at $100,000.

LLOYD--GEORGE'S TRIUMPH

(By Associated Press) London, Dec. 14—While ratification between Great Britain and Ireland was being urged by speakers in the House of Commons today, Prime Minister Lloyd George entered and was received with a storm of cheers. He was cheered again when he rose to speak on the agreement. He asserted that no agreement ever concluded between two peoples ever received so universal a welcome.

EXPECT HIGH PRICES AT OPENING SALE

The opening of the Home Tobacco warehouse here Thursday morning will undoubtedly draw a large crowd of spectators.

This is one of the few warehouses in the burley district to open for sales. The owners of this house would have sold to friends of the Association pool, they say, had overtures been made before their house was full of tobacco, and before they had agreed with those outside the pool to sell.

Tobacco men say that the weed on the floors here is first class tobacco. Top prices are expected. A full corps of buyers is expected and bidding is expected to be spirited. Association men say they hope that the prices paid will be the very top. They thus hope for high figures for the pooled tobacco, as the buyers will set the prices that the big manufacturers figure the crop this year is worth.

WOMEN MOBS BLOCK KANSAS MINE WORKERS

(By Associated Press) Pittsburgh, Kan., Dec. 14—While state military authorities are mobilizing companies of national guardsmen for entrainment to Pittsburgh, today, the militant women of Kansas coal field, adherents of Alexander Howat, were engaged in the most ambitious campaign thus far attempted in their program of stopping by violence the operations of the coal mines by men who responded to the call of the international union for men to man the mines. Sheriff Gold is besieged by miners who want work and who sought protection from the hordes of women relatives and friends of the striking miners. The women for two days overwhelmed the workers and peace officers at the mine shafts, preventing the men going into the mines. Some they beat.

The sheriff himself was pummeled yesterday. The women were again active today. A thousand of them marched to one mine, but except for beating one man, there was little violence. They came in a string of automobiles a mile long.

Directors To Elect Officers

(By Associated Press) Lexington, Dec. 14—The Burley Tobacco Growers' Cooperative Association, said to be the largest cooperative marketing organization in the United States, began functioning today for 55,000 members, who control nearly 200,000,000 pounds of burley tobacco. The directors chosen in 22 districts Tuesday met here today to select a president and other officers.

BURLEY ASSOCIATION LEGAL ORGANIZATION

Directors From All Districts Elected Tuesday Meet Today To Begin Work

The Burley Tobacco Growers' Cooperative Association, largest cooperative marketing organization in the world, becomes an actuality today, with the organization of the Board of Directors from the twenty-two districts in to which the burley territory of Ohio, Indiana and Kentucky were divided several weeks ago by the elections committee. The directors, who will organize and begin business today, were elected at conventions held Tuesday, following primaries for the selection of delegates which were held Monday in every one of the 61 counties in the burley district.

Final reports show slightly more than 55,000 tobacco growers have joined the association and that almost 200,000,000 pounds of tobacco have been signed up to the marketing plan for the next six years. Some idea of the magnitude of the association of farmers may be gained from the fact that their product, which will be marketed through the cooperative association, and not by the old auction system, will be worth from $60,000,000 to $100,000,000 annually, depending on the size of the crop and the price the manufacturers pay for it.

Of the 130 warehouses in the burley district not more than half a dozen will open for the sale of tobacco, almost every warehouseman having been a booster of the new association, and it is the purpose of the organization to take over these warehouses or to lease them, if the owner does not desire to sell them.

PATROLMAN MAUPIN CAPTURES 'SHINE

Richmond's efficient policemen put over another good capture of moonshine whisky this week. Patrolman Wm. Maupin noticed a buggy making a delivery of goods to the home of Wm. Coates on Lyndon avenue, that seemed to be suspicious. He got busy, obtained a search warrant and found eight gallons of 'shine, for which Mr. Coates could not give a satisfactory account. Judge G. Murray Smith in police court, held Coates to await grand jury action in the sum of $300 bond, which was furnished by his son, Collins G. Coates, colored, was also held to the grand jury under $300 bond on a charge of selling whisky.

AGED MAN IS KILLED BY TRAIN

Ewing Thompson, aged about 78, stepped from one track to another on the L. & N. railroad near the Shops depot shortly after noon and sustained a fracture of the skull from which he died at a local hospital Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. Thompson is reported to have been seen walking up the track shortly before the train in charge of Conductor Evans hove in sight. He is thought to have mistaken the track the train was coming in on, and stepped right in front of it. He was not killed outright, but it was seen that he was seriously hurt, so he was rushed to the hospital. Every medical attention was given him, but he died within a short time. He lived near the L. & A. crossing and was well known in the section of the city.

Foch and Viviani Return Home

(By Associated Press) New York, Dec. 14—Ferdinand Foch and Rene Viviani, warrior and statesman, sailed back to France today with American cheers following their ship down the harbor. The one had by skill on the battlefield humbled the proud German Eagle and the other played a conspicuous role at the Washington arms conference. Foch's last day in America was busy. He visited the city hall, where he bade farewell to Mayor Hylan, was presented with the freedom of the city and a diamond brooch for Madame Foch. The ceremony was topped with jazz melodies by a negro national guard brass band.

(By Associated Press) Dublin, Dec. 14—The question of ratification or rejection of the Anglo-Irish agreement by the Dail Eireann was postponed until Thursday when a public session will be held and the deputies will debate the matter and come to a conclusion. CENTRE TO MEET ARIZONA UNIVERSITY

Danville, Ky., Dec. 14—Athletic authorities of Centre College announced Tuesday that arrangements had been completed for a game on December 26 at San Diego, California, with the Arizona University foot ball team, claimants of the championship of the Southwest.

The Colonels will leave Danville Friday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock for their long trip to the Pacific Coast.

Alvin (Bo) McMillin, all-American quarterback in 1919 and outstanding star of the Centre College foot ball team for the past years, has signed a three-year contract to coach the foot ball team of Centenary College, Shreveport, La., at what is understood to be one of the highest figures ever paid a foot ball mentor. It is understood on good authority, however, that McMillin will be paid $10,000 a year for his services. The star quarterback in accepting the Centenary offer turned down several contracts ranging from $5,000 to $8,000 a year.

Daily Register's Subscription Campaign Comes To Close Promptly At Noon Friday

Three of the best known and most prominent citizens of Richmond will award the four big prizes which the Daily Register will give in its subscription campaign that closes Friday at noon. The judges selected to tabulate the vote and make the awards are:

Mayor Wm. O'Neil.
J. Hale Dean.
A. R. Burnam.

The selection of these three gentlemen will undoubtedly meet with the approval of every worker and her friends. Their well known character, integrity and business ability insures that the awards as finally made will represent to the dot the vote as finally cast by each worker. Nothing more be said as to the absolute fairness of this campaign than that three such well known citizens will decide all questions at the wind-up.

Tuesday and Wednesday subscriptions have just rolled into the Daily Register office and the candidates seem to realize that the time is short, for on day after tomorrow, FRIDAY, at 12 noon, the Daily Register's subscription campaign will come to an end. The finish will probably be a close one, all depending on the feeling and spirit of the leaders.

No one can be said to have an absolutely winning lead over any one else, for no one knows what the other workers will do or have done, even up to the last minute of the race.

But in any event the contest will close promptly at the time specified, Friday at 12 m., when all subscriptions are in. The judges will take charge and make the final count. Their decision will be final.

Last Information

The last information is that contained in the standing printed at the end of this story, as this is the last time the standing of the candidates will be published. The final standing of the candidates is as follows:—

We Want A Touchdown!

It was at the big football game. The game was going against the home team. The ball was way up the field away from the goal. The other team got all the lucky breaks. Just by way of encouragement the home gang began to shout. "We want a touchdown! We want a touchdown!"

A little pasty-faced doubter sitting in front row sniffed and remarked aloud, "What's the use? They'll never get it." And the multitude around him roared with one voice, "Aw, shut up!"

"That," said an elderly man who was among those present, "is exactly what ought to be done to every one who voices a doubt of the arms conference."

About the touchdown? Oh, the team got it, and the game.

Effort in Congress To Muzzle Press

Washington, Dec. 14—Opposition to the passage in its present form of the Walsh anti-gambling bill prohibiting publication of betting odds by newspapers, was expressed at the hearing today on the bill before the Senate Judiciary Committee.
Senator Stanley, Democrat, of Kentucky, stated practically all New York newspapers and others in different part of the country desired to be heard in opposition to what he termed a restriction on the freedom of the press and of speech.

Breeders of blooded stock also have asked to be heard.
The bill "strikes deeply at the heart of news publication," Col. W. F. Wiley, general manager of the Cincinnati Enquirer, stated, in urging an opportunity for the newspapers to be heard in opposition. Newspapers, generally publish regularly reports on bank clearings and of stock and grain market quotations on prices, he said, all of which is made the basis of gambling, bets being settled on the published figures.

The logical extension of the prohibition, he said, would be legislation preventing publication of such information and also reports of murder and other crimes.

Senator Borah launched an attack in the Senate on the Four-power treaty negotiated by the disarmament conference.

TOO MUCH TOBACCO REDUCING FERTILITY

Annual Tobacco Crop of 500,000,000 Pounds Is Heavy Drain On Soils

Lexington, Dec. 14—Approximately $6,000,000 worth of plant food is removed from Kentucky farms when the 500,000,000 pounds of tobacco, which the state produces as an average annual crop, is placed on the market according to R. E. Stephenson, soil specialist at the College of Agriculture. This is probably one reason for the exhausted soils and low average crop yields in many sections of the state. Further destruction of the state's soil fertility without considerable expenses for commercial fertilizers can be prevented largely by careful use of the tobacco stalks which should be scattered over the fields, the specialist declares.

"The average yield of tobacco in Kentucky, which is about 800 pounds an acre, contains $8.40 worth of nitrogen, $3.20 worth of potassium and about 25 cents worth of phosphorous. The marketable leaf, therefore, removes nearly $10 worth of plant food from each acre of soil. From four to five tons of farm manure would be required to replace the plant food removed from an acre of soil by an average tobacco crop. More than this amount would be required if the stalks were not returned.

"In many cases, the average farmer either fails to spread the stalks on the fields or they are spread too thickly with the result that there is much waste of plant food, particularly nitrogen. In order to get the most good from them, they should be used at the rate of not more than 600 to 1,000 pounds an acre.

"With the stalks from one acre containing plant food worth about $3.75, the total value of the stalks produced in the state reaches a value of more than $1,800,000 or an amount equal to one-half the value of fertilizers purchased in one year by Kentucky farmers. Careful use of these stalks, which are already on the farm, to eliminate the necessity of purchasing commercial fertilizers, which must be brought to the farm, is worthy of consideration from every farmer in the state."

FARM BOYS TO JOIN BABY BEEF CLUBS

(By Associated Press)
Lexington, Ky., Dec. 14—Farm boys of Kentucky will have an opportunity to get an early start in the cattle feeding business by means of a project just being started in the state by the Junior Agricultural Club Department of the College of Agriculture, University of Kentucky, according to an announcement by M. L. Hall, assistant state leader in Junior Agricultural club work.

Boys who enroll in the project will become members of "baby beef" clubs in their respective counties and be trained in the feeding and management of beef calves which are to be sold on the market, says the announcement. County agents in seven counties already have reported that they have enrolled a total of approximately 100 boys in the new project. Mr. Hall said. Plans are being made to enroll as many as possible during coming month.

Reports have been received from Boyle, Lincoln, Warren, Washington, Crittenden, Wayne, and Marion counties to the effect that clubs would be formed. Washington, Crittenden, Wayne about 25 members; Marion, Lincoln and Boyle, 20 each, while the membership in the others has not yet been determined. Interested banks and commercial concerns are planning to co-operate in a number of counties to finance the purchase of animals which will be used by the children in the project, Mr. Hall said.

According to present plans each county club will feed a car load of calves. The car load will be made up of calves fed by individual members of the clubs, arrangements having been made for each boy to feed one or more calves. Purebred, grade or crossbred calves will be used. The boys will have the animals under their care for about nine months.

When a Federal Bureau reminds you that children should not drink coffee or tea—
Why not think of your own health?

The Federal Bureau of Education includes in its rules to promote health among the Nation's school children, the warning that children should not drink coffee or tea.

The reason is well known. Coffee and tea contain drugs which stimulate and often over-excite the nerves, and so upset health.

The harm is by no means confined to children, as any doctor can tell you.

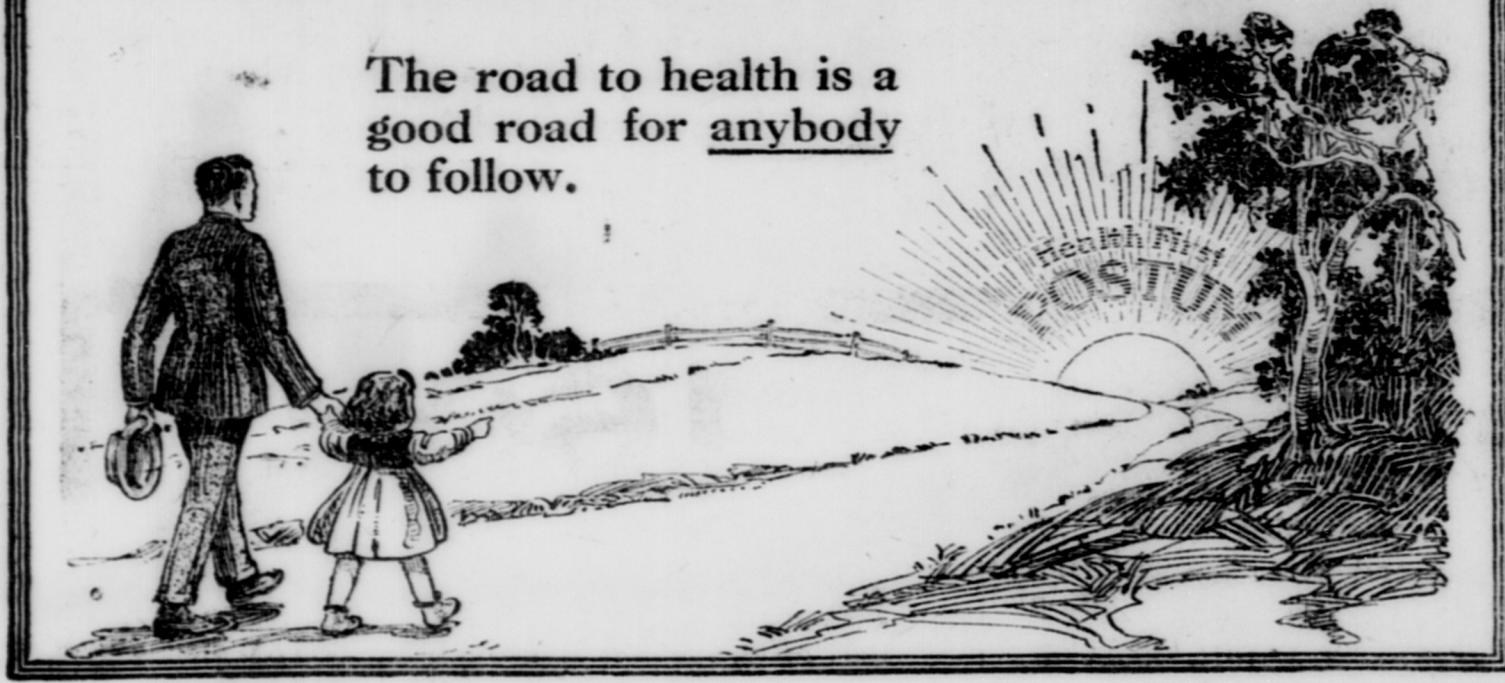

If health is valuable to childhood, it is valuable always. If harm to health should be avoided until bodies grow up, is it worth taking a chance with health when bodies have grown up?

You can have that delicious and satisfying cereal beverage, Postum, with any meal, and be safe—you, and the children, too. There's charm without harm in Postum.

Postum comes in two forms: Instant Postum (in tins) made instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages of larger bulk, for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared) made by boiling for 20 minutes. Sold by all grocers.

The road to health is a good road for anybody to follow.

BREATHITT RAIDERS HIDING IN PERRY

Jackson, Ky., Dec. 14 — Far back in the mountains of Perry county, Bud Noble, said to be wounded, and his two sons, Soldier and Beech, are believed to have found a haven of refuge from troops and posses hunting them as members of the band which attacked the Breathitt county jail and wounded four of the defenders, two fatally.

Bud Noble, the alleged leader and murderer, and his two sons have outwitted their pursuers. This much is granted. Where they are, they and their partisans alone know. But one of those rumors, which seem to come from nowhere yet gain credence in the mountains, says they are in an isolated and almost inaccessible part of the mountains on Grapevine Creek, two ridges and 25 miles away from the troops and posses of citizens and officers.

In the meantime, following the second death last night, that of Miss Bessie Allen, the grand jury heard witnesses today and will continue the investigation. Six or seven indictments probably will be returned. Several witnesses have been found who saw the Nobles and their adherents on their way home from Jackson the morning of the attack, authorities say.

W. P. Watts, Sam Grigsby, Tom Porter, Luther Noble, and Higgins Noble, held in jail here, refuse to talk. Luther Noble did deny his guilt. The others will not say anything one way or the other.

Watts, Grigsby and Porter were seen riding with the Nobles in a direction leading from Jackson on the morning after the attack, according to witnesses. They were also seen in company with the Nobles the night before the grand jury was told. Watts has been identified by the defenders of the jail as a member of the raiding party.

LIGHTS CHANGE STAGE SCENES

Turn of Switch Transforms the Scenery, Costumes and Figures in London Theater.

WORKED OUT BY A RUSSIAN

M. Samoiloff Asserts He Is Merely Utilizing Harmony Between Light, Line and Color—Principles Are Not New.

London.—The wonders accomplished in transforming scenes, costumes and actual figures from one period of history to another by a mere change of light on the stage of the Hippodrome has set all London talking. In a revue now playing there is a scene representing a very modern damsel sighing for her lover in a frowning mountain pass. She sings, the echo answers and the audience is beguiled by the sweet sentimentality of the situation.

Then behind the scenes somebody does something and everything is altered in a flash. The grim mountains become a Hindu temple, the frowning rocks melt into sands and palms and the tall, slender young woman turns into a stout Indian maiden. It has all been brought about by a change in light, by the manipulation of more than 100 different switches at the same moment, and the audience is carried back 3,000 years and from one continent to another. Every detail is transfigured, and the girl, who was clad conventionally in a yellow artificial silk blouse with blue facings and a rust-red golf skirt, appears now with her bust draped in white, embroidered in black and brown, with her waist unclashed and her trousers-skirt pale cream with a graceful figured pattern.

Back Goes Everything.
An Oriental scene follows, with the customary dances. Men and women in all the finery of the East enter and weave in and out in the mazes of the ballet. The lover comes on, to all appearances robed in the loose white garments and the trousers of certain castes of Hindus. The action grows fast and furious; the heroine is threatened by a rival; she runs to the hero for protection, and as he clasps her to his arms some one throws those switches again.

Back goes everything to the original scene in a brown lounge suit of unquestionable cut is seen embracing the young woman in the crowd of equally modernly dressed people.

How is it done? Only Adrian V. Samoiloff, the Russian artist who has worked the thing out, and the Moss Empires, who hold the patent, can tell in detail, but it is possible to give a general idea of this startling new stage effect. When M. Samoiloff was asked about it, he said:

"It's merely a matter of establishing and utilizing a harmony between light, line and color. Is it new? Well, all the elements of it have been known for years; I have merely brought them together and worked them out scientifically and systematically. Do you remember, for instance, the postcards we had as children, which showed one inscription in one light and another in another? Well, that's part of it. Then during the war he heard a lot about 'dazzle' and camouflage, and how a few apparently random lines of paint would alter to the distant observer the shape of the outline of a vessel. That's part of it. I have merely worked along these and similar lines until I got the results I wanted."

"But the girl's skirt and blouse in the mountain scene seemed to be of solid color and heavy material, while in the Hindu scene they were quite flimsy and covered with embroidery. How about that?"

Light Changes Costumes

"That's quite simple," replied M. Samoiloff. "To the colors I use in the mountain scene I applied two methods of analysis. First, I took their spectra; then I analyzed the paints used chemically. From the spectra I found into what colors the first would split up by the application of the proper kind of strong light, and by chemical analysis I discovered that a great variety of substances had been used in the original paints and colors to produce the original hues. Take, for example, several pieces of red material; they will seem to match exactly, but chemical analysis will show that one contains radium bromide, another phosphoric or zinc, and a third no special chemical at all. In ordinary daylight they look exactly alike, but when I begin to throw my specially prepared lights upon them they change in different ways according to the chemicals they contain. When you have worked this out very carefully, as I did, it will be quite simple for you to make a plain blouse look like a mass of embroidery."

"Perhaps you noticed in the Oriental scene three of the dancers who seemed to be clothed in quite different ways; one looked as if she were wearing merely a skirt, another was draped to her shoulders, and so on. Yet when the light was changed all three were found to be clad in modern gowns, the only difference between them being the colors of their costumes. It's merely an application of the knowledge of how light affects color."

SUSTO is the Only Vitamine Tonic Food Ever O. K'd by a World Famous Nutrition Expert

Dr. Philip B. Hawk is the Professor of Physiological Chemistry at Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia. He analyzed SUSTO, checked up its actions, scientifically tested its nutritive value and digestibility in normal human beings and therapeutic and reconstructive powers in numerous cases of Run-Down Conditions, Loss of Flesh, Anemia, Lack of Strength, Convalescence, Malnutrition, Under Weight and Under Nourishment of men, women and children. After which he made a most favorable report, extracts from which we hereafter reprint.

This is the first time in history that a tonic reconstructive has been offered to the public backed by the full approval of world-recognized, scientific authority. It is the first time such a preparation has been ethically tested in every possible way before being placed on the market.

Here is what Dr. Hawk said concerning this test:

"In all cases of a general run-down system or in convalescence from such diseases as typhoid fever or influenza SUSTO played a very important part in stimulating the appetite and causing increases in body weight."

"In practically every case the tonic or stimulating effect was apparent at the start of feeding and persisted. In every instance where under-nourished infants and children were given SUSTO, important body-weight increases were registered. A notable case is that of a boy of eleven who had been under weight for three or four years in spite of the best medical and dietetic treatment. The feeding of SUSTO produced a gain of six pounds."

"SUSTO also caused normal adult persons to put on weight. One of our cases (a normal young woman) gained seven pounds in two months by the use of it. And still another, a married woman, gained twelve pounds in three months."

"One old lady of 75, who had weighed under 90 pounds for 30 years, increased her weight to 100 pounds by the use of SUSTO."

"In no case did any patient object to the taste of SUSTO. In fact, one physician associated with us reports that one of his child patients now refuses to take any milk unless it contains SUSTO."

"Some individuals were found who could not digest straight milk but who could handle milk with SUSTO very nicely."

"SUSTO as improved by us is an excellent nutritive tonic and growth-promoting therapeutic product. It should prove useful to all convalescents, to normal adults who wish to put on weight, to under-nourished children and adults, and to men, women and children in general who show signs of a run-down system."

It would be impossible to secure higher testimony as to the tonic food value of SUSTO.

SUSTO is rich in the Vitamines of Rice, Eggs, Milk, and Yeast—notably rich in Fat Soluble and Water Soluble Vitamins A, B, C, together with Beef Protein, Nuclein and Iron—and indicated for malnutrition and allied diseases.

A copy of Dr. Hawk's full report will be sent to any physician. A postal request will bring it. Address Chester Kent & Co., Chemists, Boston, Mass.

SUSTO is for sale in Richmond at Perry's Drug Store.

WOMAN LEGISLATOR FOR ROADS, SCHOOLS

(By Associated Press)
Frankfort, Ky., Dec. 14—Good roads and schools will have a staunch champion in the Kentucky legislature at the session which opens in January, in the person of Mrs. Mary Elliott Flanery, of Catlettsburg, according to statements made by Mrs. Flanery when she came here recently to select her seat in the House of Representatives. Mrs. Flanery will be the first woman to sit in a Kentucky legislative house and is said to be the first woman elected to such a position south of the Mason and Dixon line.

Not only will Mrs. Flanery fight for roads and schools, but she has as one of her aims the removal of all statutory disabilities of women in the state.
Mrs. Flanery comes from one of the oldest families in the state and one identified with the history of Kentucky and Virginia for many generations. Her great grandfather was Colonel Richard Elliott, who was with Washington at the siege of York and a great grandfather was Benjamin Scott, also a Revolutionary War officer. Her grandfather, Capt. John Lisle Elliott, emigrated from Virginia in the early days of the state, and according to Mrs. Flanery, Elliott county was named for him, although Collins History of Kentucky states that the county was named for Judge John M. Elliott, who was assassinated in Frankfort while a member of the Kentucky Court of Appeals, by a farmer who had become deranged after the court had rendered a decision adverse to him in a land case. Judge Elliott was Mrs. Flanery's uncle.
Mrs. Flanery was born on the old Elliott homestead near Sandy Hook, Elliott county. She was raised in Elliott and Carter counties, getting her education in the common schools of the two counties and attending the State University for a period.
She was married on June 28th, 1893, to W. H. Flanery, an attorney, and in 1895 they settled in Pikeville. In 1912 they moved to Catlettsburg where they now live in the old home of Judge John M. Elliott which his widow presented to Mrs. Flanery.

Besides looking after her family—she has three daughters and one son—Mrs. Flanery has for years worked as society editor and feature writer for the Ashland Independent, because, she says, she likes the work. One of her daughters, Mrs. Dew Flanery, a Smith College graduate, is society editor and feature writer for a Hagerstown, Maryland paper. Her other daughters are Mrs. Davis M. Howerton, wife of Dav M. Howerton, who was an assistant Attorney General under Governor Stanley, and Mrs. H. Leslie Parker, of Denver, Colo. Her son is John Elliott Flanery, aged 13, whose ambition just at present is to be one of the four pages of the House.

Mrs. Flanery is a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church South. One of the notable features of Mrs. Flanery's election is the fact that she was elected in a district that never before has gone democratic.

New Light on Batteries

"Since all batteries look so much alike on the outside, how am I going to tell which one has the most value inside?"

That is a practical every-day question—and it has a simple every-day answer.

What greater assurance could you possibly have than the following combination of facts:

1—Extraordinary quantity in the battery itself, as shown by the design of the Willard Thorndike Builder Battery as standard equipment by the manufacturers of 112 makes of cars and trucks.

2—A national-wide organization to serve you and—

3—A record for quality and service dating back nearly to the beginning of the automobile.
